UFU meet UK Groceries Code Adjudicator

This week the Ulster Farmers' Union met with Christine Tacon, the UK Groceries Code Adjudicator, to discuss concerns about how the food supply chain operates and the impact of unfair practices on producer profitability.

At the meeting Ms Tacon covered a lot of ground on the work of the Groceries Code Adjudicator and the approach she proposes to take going forward as she carries out her investigations and enforcement functions. UFU President Harry Sinclair said: "We are pleased to see Ms Tacon is genuinely committed to ensuring the Grocery Supplier Code of Practice is enforced and that farmers and suppliers are treated fairly. The UFU are encouraged by the approach she proposes to take and we will be keeping in close contact with Ms Tacon, highlighting any issues of unfairness in the supply chain that comes to our attention."
